Ramadan

Ramadhan is the best month of the Islamic calendar. A fard (obligatory) action carried out during this holy month bears the reward of 70 fard acts and a nafl (voluntary) being observed during this month has the reward of a fard.

What is Fasting and who should practice it?

Fasting is to abstain from eating, drinking, smoking and intercourse from dawn to sunset.

It is fard (compulsory) upon every Muslim who has reached puberty (i.e. has become baligh) to fast during the month of Ramadan. It is highly beneficial because it keeps us away from sin. Apart from many other advantages, fasting is extremely good for one's health.

What actions will break a fast

- Eating, drinking, smoking intentionally.
- Sexual intercourse, masturbation (masturbation is Haraam i.e. strictly forbidden) whether one is fasting or no).
- Intentionally Vomiting, if mouthful or more.
- Putting Medicine in one's ears or nostrils.
- One must be cautious when performing wuzu and ensure water does not pass down one's throat or else the fast will break.
- Starting of haiz (menstruation) or nifas (post natal bleeding)
- Using an inhaler

What things will make your fasting Makruh (decrease the reward)

Backbiting, speaking lies, slandering, prolonging gargling, use of toothpaste, chewing and tasting of food without a reason, hurting someone, and other haraam acts in Islam.

What things will NOT break a fast

- Eating, drinking, smoking or sexual intercourse unintentionally and accidentally (forgetting that you are fasting)
- Application of surmah, Kajal, facial cream, hair oil, perfume etc.
- Vomiting or swallowing back unintentionally, even if it is more than a mouthful.
- Wet dreams
- The use of miswak or toothbrush
- Istihaza (This is the name given to the abnormal vaginal bleeding due to some form of illness) It is Fard to pray Namaz and fast in Ramadan during Istihaza
- Taking an injection

Who is excused from Fasting

- Children under the age of puberty
- The insane
- The very old, weak and sick who cannot bear the hardship of fasting, however the person should give a Kaffara
- Pregnant women
- Mothers breast feeding their babies
- Women experiencing menstruation (Haiz), or post natal bleeding (Nifas).
- Person Travelling over 57½ Miles
In the above situations, when one is able in making qaza, it has to be made after Ramadan.

Kaffarah

If a person breaks his/her fast before sunset without a valid religious reason, he/she will have to observe 60 consecutive fasts after the month of Ramadan, if a person is incapable of doing such, 60 people should be given food (lunch and dinner) as compensation. In all other cases qaza has to be made after Ramadan.

Tarawih

It is an important sunnah to read 20 rakaat additional prayer after the fard and 2 sunnah of Eisha before the 3 witr prayer of Isha, through the month of Ramadan. It is highly preferable to read this Tarawih prayer with Jamaat. Those who miss the fard of Isha with Jamaat are required to read witr prayer of Isha alone.

Sehri

It is sunnah to eat sehri i.e. to eat something before dawn. Allah and his angels send blessings upon people having sehri.

Iftar

It is also sunnah to break one's fast just after sunset. During the rainy season and cloudy weather it is better to delay for a few minutes. It is sunnah to begin to eat at the time of iftar with fresh, dry dates or water. It is makrooh (disliked) to prolong the breaking of a fast

Eid-UI-Fitr

Eid-ul-fitr refers to the festival after completion of fasting in the month of Ramadan. This special occasion is celebrated on the 1st of Shawwal, which is the 10th month in the Islamic calendar. The festival of Eid-ul-fitr is a manner of showing appreciation and gratitude to the Almighty Allah for all he has bestowed upon us.

On the morning of Eid-ul-fitr, Muslims throughout the world perform Eid Prayers, which is compulsory. It is not permissible to miss the Eid prayers without a valid reason. One must listen to the Khutba in the Mosque after the prayers. Below are various actions which are desirable on the day of Eid and some of them are the sunnah of our beloved Prophet (sallallahu alaihi wasallam) and are highly rewarding

- To trim the hair and nails
- To perform Ghusl
- To wear new or good clean clothes.
- To wear a ring (for men- a silver ring maximum weight 4.83 grams with one stone)
- To use perfume
- To go walking to the Mosque or place of Eid prayers.
- To perform Fajr prayers at the mosque.
- To go from one street and to return through another
- To eat few dates preferably odd numbers or anything sweet before going to Eid prayers.
- To show happiness and gratification
- To give charity in abundance.
- To walk modestly, relaxed and in a dignified manner towards the Eid gathering.
- To wish and congratulate one another after Eid prayers, by shaking hands and embracing each other.

Fitrah

It is wajib to pay Sadqae Fitr to the poor Muslims before the day of Eid for those who can afford it. This charity is a means of compensation for the sins that one may have committed during Ramadaan. You are requested to pay it at TAJDAAR - E - MADINA. This year the amount of fitra payable per head is £4.00
